Dear Sir / Madam,

Re The King (on the application of Zahmoul) v Secretary of State for Justice and Permanent Secretary and another

Permission to apply for judicial review has been refused and notice of that refusal is enclosed. As the application was considered to be totally without merit, you may not request that the decision to refuse permission be reconsidered at a hearing before the Administrative Court [see Civil Procedure Rule 54.12(7)].

Accordingly, I write to inform you that the file in this matter has been closed.

In Civil Cases

Where an application is identified by the Administrative Court as being totally without merit, the route of appeal against the refusal of permission to apply for judicial review is to the Court of Appeal Civil Division. An application to the Court of Appeal for permission to appeal will be determined on paper without an oral hearing [CPR 52.15(1A)].

In Criminal Cases

Where an application is identified by the Administrative Court as being totally without merit, there is no further route of appeal against the refusal of permission to apply for judicial review.

Yours faithfully

James Kowalczyk
Officer of the Court
