Subject: Written Evidence — Access to Transcripts at Public Expense for Disabled Litigants in Person — Zahmoul (BV20D01752)

Dear Sir or Madam,

I write to place before the Lords Justice and Home Affairs Committee a documentary record raising a systemic question within the Committee's remit on the administration of justice: the access of disabled litigants in person to the official transcripts of proceedings affecting them, where those transcripts are required to support a registered criminal investigation, an active judicial review, and ongoing Chancery enforcement.

This is my first written-evidence submission to this Committee. The Commons Justice Committee has previously received eleven written-evidence submissions across 78 days, none of which has produced a substantive response, and is therefore not the addressee of this submission. The Liaison Committee is copied for oversight purposes.

I am Nadia Zahmoul, a litigant in person across six live High Court proceedings. I am autistic (NHS diagnosis, Central London Adult Autism Service, July 2025). I have PTSD, chronic since 2013, and Sjögren's Syndrome, biopsy-confirmed October 2025, in active flare. I have £85 in my bank account. I have no income. I have no permanent home. I have over £1 million in liability against me, accruing daily, anchored in characterisations of my documented disabilities as moral failing.

The matters identified in this submission concern the treatment of evidence on the face of a judicial record, rather than the merits of any underlying decision. The question is not one of appellate review, but of whether the handling of that evidence engages systemic issues beyond the ordinary supervisory function of the courts.

The systemic question

By what mechanism, and on what authority, can a disabled litigant in person be denied access at public expense to the official transcripts of the proceedings against her, where those transcripts are required to support: (a) a registered criminal investigation operationally engaged by the Metropolitan Police Service (CCR-6501-26-0100-000); (b) an active judicial review (AC-2025-LON-004293) currently in the permission stage; and (c) ongoing Chancery enforcement of liability anchored in the very findings the transcripts would test?

The documentary record

On 27 March 2026, I filed Form EX107 with HMCTS Family Division applying for the official transcript of the ten-day final hearing in BV20D01752 (19 to 28 February 2024) at public expense. The application was refused by the trial judge on 27 March 2026 in a one-line refusal, and again on 30 March 2026 in a structured refusal. I formally requested written reasons on 30 March 2026, and again on 14 April 2026. As at the date of this submission, 31 days have elapsed since the original request. No written reasons have been provided.

I now file with this Committee, as written evidence, seven Form EX107 applications, each for a single hearing day:

EX107 — 20 February 2024 — Trial Day 1

EX107 — 21 February 2024 — Trial Day 2

EX107 — 22 February 2024 — Trial Day 3

EX107 — 23 February 2024 — Trial Day 4

EX107 — 26 February 2024 — Trial Day 5

EX107 — 28 February 2024 — Trial Day 6

EX107 — 8 May 2025 — Hearing

The seven applications are filed as discrete applications, not as a single application for the entirety of a ten-day hearing. The trial judge's stated objection on 30 March 2026 — that "transcribing the entirety of a ten-day hearing represents a very considerable call on public funds" — does not arise on a per-day application.

The full email chain on which the trial judge's structured refusal of 30 March 2026 sits is attached, so the Committee can see the original application, the four grounds advanced, the structured refusal, and my point-by-point reply of 31 March 2026.

A covering letter accompanies the seven applications, addressing the four grounds for public expense and the procedural matters raised in the refusal of 30 March 2026.

What I am placing before the Committee

The Committee is not asked to determine the underlying applications. The applications are placed on the parliamentary record as evidence of how the access-to-transcripts framework operates in practice for a disabled litigant in person, where every formal channel of remedy has been engaged and none has produced an answer.

The matters set out in this submission, and the documents attached, are placed before the Committee for such use as the Committee considers appropriate to its remit on the administration of justice.

Yours faithfully,

Nadia Zahmoul

Litigant in Person
