Subject: AC-2025-LON-004293 — CE-File Submission Rejected — CPR 3.1(7)
Application Sealed 12 March 2026 — Urgent Clarification Required

Dear Case Progression Team,

I write as the Claimant in the above proceedings, a litigant in person.

I am writing to draw your attention to an urgent matter concerning the electronic filing record in this claim.

On 12 March 2026 at 10:36am, the Administrative Court sealed my CPR 3.1(7) application to revoke the order of Collins Rice J dated 11 March 2026. The sealed application is on the paper file.

On 13 March 2026 at 19:41, I submitted the same application via CE-File, reference number 2147191773430852704. On 10 April 2026 I received notification that this submission had been rejected by the clerk on the basis that it had been incorrectly classified. The clerk's comment stated: "Good morning, you have classed this submission as an application notice. I cannot see that it is. Please email the case progression team on this matter."

I am therefore writing to the case progression team as directed.

I ask the Court to confirm:

- That the CPR 3.1(7) application sealed on 12 March 2026 at 10:36am is properly recorded on the electronic case file.
- What the correct CE-File document type is for a CPR 3.1(7) application, so that I can refile the electronic submission correctly if required.
- Whether the application has been assigned to a judge for determination.

I draw the Court's attention to the fact that two hard deadlines arise on 22 and 23 April 2026 — a GLD costs demand and the CPR 52.8 appeal window — both of which flow from the order the CPR 3.1(7) challenges. The CPR 3.1(7) has been on the paper file for 30 days without assignment or listing.

Yours faithfully,

Nadia Zahmoul

Response status as at 4 May 2026: No substantive response received. 21 days elapsed.

Both deadlines flagged in this email — 22 April (GLD costs demand) and 23 April (CPR 52.8 appeal window) — passed without any response from ACO. The CPR 3.1(7) has now been on the paper file for 53 days without assignment or listing as at the date of this folder.
